Dear Mr. Sawyer and West Coast Environmental Law Association,

As elected leaders of our respective communities, we send you this open letter on behalf of our residents.

We recognize it is your right to file a jurisdictional challenge with the National Energy Board against LNG Canada's feed supply pipeline, TransCanada's Coastal GasLink.

We would also like you to know that our communities are in support of the proposed LNG Canada export facility and associated pipeline.

We believe that the development of this LNG export facility will bring tremendous benefits to our communities, region, province, entire nation, and even the broader global environment. If the LNG Canada project moves forward, it will create thousands of person-years of work for all walks of people across the North, B.C., Canada, and beyond. The development of this project would create billions of dollars in taxes for all levels of government; which will support programs that are important to all of us, such as education, healthcare, infrastructure, and funding for environmental sustainability initiatives. If this LNG export facility is developed, it will also bring remarkable benefits to many First Nations including contract and employment opportunities, and benefit agreements.

LNG is often referred to as transition fuel. It is a hydrocarbon based energy source, however, it produces significantly less greenhouse gases than many of the other energy sources that it is replacing globally, such as coal. If LNG Canada proceeds, it will produce the least carbon intensive LNG in the world. Global demand for LNG will remain, so if LNG Canada is unable to supply the lowest carbon intensive product in the world, the demand will be met by some other source.

Both the proposed LNG Canada export facility and Coastal GasLink pipeline have been subject to very extensive and rigorous assessment and review processes that actively sought public comment. There has been opportunity to challenge the jurisdiction of these projects for years.

It is with these sentiments that we find it disappointing that your challenge is being raised at this point in time, when the respective project partners are on the verge of making an investment decision on what could be the single largest private investment in our nation's history; an investment decision that could deliver an abundance of benefits to so many people in our communities, region, province, and across our entire nation.

We stand united in our support for seeing the development of LNG Canada, and we will continue to voice our support for this project.

Respectfully,

"I support LNG Canada"
