Blanchard, 2600 West Lake Shore Drive, was crowned queen of the "Regency" Beaux Arts Ball in detailed ceremonies held Saturday night at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Approximately 300 formally dressed couples were in attendance in the beautifully decorated ballroom to see Miss Blanchard receive her crown and sceptre from Gov. Otto Kerner in the

Chinese Queried By India

From Wire Services NEW DELHI — India asked Communist China Saturday for "clarification" of the conditions of its cease-fire. It was the first Indian diplomatic recognition of the one-sided truce offer and came as U.S. and British teams began formal talks on massive military aid for India. London dispatches said the British and American missions in New Delhi had been instructed to tell Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru the two nations were ready to give India "any assistance" requested whether it accepted Peking's truce terms or not. INFORMED SOURCES said Saturday Red China has offered to sign a nonaggression treaty with Pakistan, a defense partner of the Western powers which is irritated now by U.S. and British arms aid to India. Parliamentary quarters reported the offer is under study by the government of President Moham' med Ayub Khan. Foreign Minister Mohammed Ali resigned comment, but said he has accepted an invitation from Premier Chou En-lai to visit China soon. A Foreign Office spokesman subsequently announced: "If such a proposal is placed before the minister (Ali) in Peking, it would be seriously examined."

Cuba Demobilizes; Mikoyan Leaving

From Wire Services HAVANA — Cuba Saturday began demobilizing its crisis-activated militia units, called to arms Oct. 22 just before President Kennedy's blockade speech. Caravans of trucks loaded with grimy, bearded militiamen poured into hometowns all over the island Friday night and Saturday. IN MOST CITIES stay-at-home revolutionary organizations staged welcome parades and demonstrations. Official communications media exhorted the returning militiamen to waste no time returning to the production front "so that battle also can be won." In a revolution which proliferates slogans, Saturday's was: "From the trenches to the production front." An extensive dismantling of non-nuclear Soviet military bases in Cuba is now expected by U.S. officials to follow Soviet Premier Khrushchev's withdrawal of weapons with nuclear capability. RUSSIAN DIPLOMATS are reported to have told U.S. representatives in recent days that several thousand more Soviet troops will be removed from the Caribbean island. Russia, it is believed, may also disarm and abandon 24 surface-to-air missile sites which could offer formidable opposition to U.S. reconnaissance planes flying patrols over Prime Minister Fidel Castro's land. BUT EVIDENTLY because Russians man the anti-aircraft installations they have not been used against American planes in the last 10 days despite angry and explicit warnings by Castro that surveillance flights would be fired on. The National Sugar Commission announced the 1963 Cuban harvest will begin between the tenth and fifteenth of next month. Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, who arrived in Cuba at the height of the Caribbean crisis three weeks ago, will leave Havana Monday, it was learned Saturday. IT WAS LEARNED the news of the Soviet diplomat's departure will appear in today's Cuban newspapers, along with an official announcement that Mikoyan will make a television appearance at 8 p.m. today. Mikoyan flew into Cuba Nov. 2 to discuss "differences" between Havana and Moscow in connection with the Caribbean crisis. He leaves at 10 a.m.

Hit Stabilizer Of Airliner Bird May Have Caused Crash

ELLIOTT CITY, Md. — Federal investigators said Saturday a collision with a large bird may have been responsible for an airliner crash in which 17 persons lost their lives. Edward Slattery of the Civil Aeronautics Board said remains of a bird—probably a goose or swan—were found on the left stabilizer of the United Air Lines Viscount. He said the stabilizer had been punctured by the impact. THE MAIN CARCASS of the bird was found near the stabilizer, Slattery said. He said the tail, which houses the stabilizer, was found a quarter of a mile away from the main wreckage and this leads investigators to believe the tail section broke off before the plane crashed. The plane crashed and burned Friday on a farm 19 miles southwest of Baltimore. The bird carcass was turned over to Maryland's chief medical examiner, Dr. Russell S. Fisher, for refrigeration and identification. Slattery, CAB public information officer, also told newsmen that the pilot of the four-engine turbo-prop plane was warned by the approach control center in Washington a few minutes before the crash that there were birds in the area. Slattery said the last plane crash because of birds was Oct. 4, 1960, when an Eastern Air Lines Electra crashed on take-off at the Boston Airport. A flock of starlings was sucked into the Electra engines. The CAB official emphasized the Boston accident was not comparable because it involved the engines of the plane. The Viscount, en route from Newark, N.Y., to Atlanta, Ga., was approaching Washington, D.C., for its first scheduled stop when it crashed. INVESTIGATORS split into eight groups with specific areas of responsibility at the crash scene, six miles from Elliott City. George A. Van Epps, chief of safety investigation for the Civil Aeronautics Board, said: "It's too early to tell whether there's any indication of sabotage. The FBI has been called in but its role will only be determined as the investigation moves along." Van Epps said the bits and pieces of wreckage would be reconstructed at the United Langar at Washington National Airport. The Federal Aviation Agency said the plane's veteran pilot, Capt. Milton J. Balog, 39, of Franklin Lakes, N.J., gave no hint of approaching tragedy. UNITED AIR LINES said the Viscount which crashed was among 40 of the 44 passenger planes acquired from Capital Airlines in the merger of the two lines in June 1961. "The last accident involving a Capital Airlines Viscount occurred Jan. 18, 1960," United said. "Since that time, the Viscount fleet has flown 2,268,630, 000 passenger miles."

Never Underestimate The Powder Of A Woman

LONDON — Two hundred women workers—who struck when they discovered a check was being made on their powder room visits—are back on their jobs, having reached a compromise with the management. The workers, most of them under 25, walked out of their factory Wednesday. They objected to supervisor Harriet Graham taking their names every time they went to the rest room. Mrs. Graham was assigned to a post outside the powder room after efficiency expert Albert Hughes reported too much time was being spent in the girls' room. His investigation, he said, showed that within a space of four hours, 509 trips were made to the ladies room and that each girl spent an average of 10.7 minutes there. The management said that in the future, smoking would be allowed at the work bench. For their part, the girls promised not to wash their stockings in the powder room, give one another permanent waves there or wash their hair.

Kennedy To Pay Visit To GI Force In South

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — President Kennedy Monday will visit military men sent to the Georgia-Florida area because of the Cuban crisis, the summer White House announced Saturday. The President's last tour will begin near Savannah, Ga., and will take him to Army, Navy and Air Force installations as far south as Key West, Fla., 90 miles from Cuba. THE PRESIDENT will inspect some units of a force that was sufficient to launch an invasion of Cuba, if he had ordered one. He will probably talk to the pilots who have been flying both high- and low-level phototaking missions over Cuba, to check on the removal of Soviet missile bases. He will see an impressive collection of Air Force and Navy jet fighters that have hung an aerial umbrella over the Florida Straits. And the President will look at Army anti-aircraft units dug in with their launchers in firing position at Key West, only 90 miles from Havana. The White House said that many of these units—speeded to southern Florida during the crisis—will be going home, and the President wants to pay a personal call on the officers and men before they leave. MOST OF THE AREAS the President will tour in his swift visit have been—and still are—under security wraps. The curtain may be lifted a bit for his visit. At Homestead Air Force Base, south of Miami, Fla., the President will see the advance headquarters for the Cuban opera-

Illinois Startles Spartans

Illinois pulled its second major football upset in four weeks Saturday by spilling Michigan State, 7-6, at Champaign. The Illini had ended a 15-game losing streak by beating Purdue, 14-10, Nov. 3. Wisconsin, already sure of a Rose Bowl bid, came from behind in the closing minutes to defeat Minnesota, 17-9, and clinch the Big Ten Conference championship at Madison, Wis. Southern California, which also clinched a Rose Bowl berth last week, conquered UCLA, 14-3, to remain undefeated. Here is the setup for other major bowl games Nov. 24: SUGAR — Arkansas against team to be chosen, probably Mississippi. COTTON — Texas vs. Louisiana State. ORANGE — Oklahoma vs. team to be chosen, probably Alabama.

Girl Loses Bid For Top Honors Spitzer Angus Defeated

CHICAGO — Karen Ann Spitzer, 13, of Pleasant Plains, suffered a crushing defeat in her efforts to win the International Live Stock Exposition's top award of grand champion steer Saturday. THE 1,000-POUND Angus calf with which she won the junior grand champion award Friday finished second among 61 Angus summer yearlings in the open classes. The defeat eliminated her black calf, "Master Eileenmere," from competition for the top steer award. Winner of the class was "Top of Iowa," a 575-pound Angus shown by Lyle Miller, 22, of Osceola, Iowa. A FATHER and son team from Ida Grove, Iowa, carried off top honors in carlot cattle. Karl Hoffman, a perennial winner at the International, and his son, Jack, showed a load of 15 classy Angus steers that was named grand champion in the carlot division. The victory was the eighth since 1942 for Karl and the second for him and his son as a team. Their first team victory was in 1953. THE RESERVE grand champion load of steers also was Angus cattle, shown by Maass Brothers of Remsen, Iowa. A total of 41 carlots were entered in the competition.

YMCA DEDICATION SET FOR TODAY

All Purpose Room which will be used for large meetings, parties and dances.

New YMCA Building Will Meet The Needs Of Youth Today And Tomorrow

Opening of the new YMCA building is the first step in a program designed to meet expanding population and needs of the city of Springfield.

Future development will include a special exercise room, a rifle range, the adult lobby and lounge, game room, food services, chapel, music room, additional club rooms, administrative offices, small gymnasium, and additional handball court.

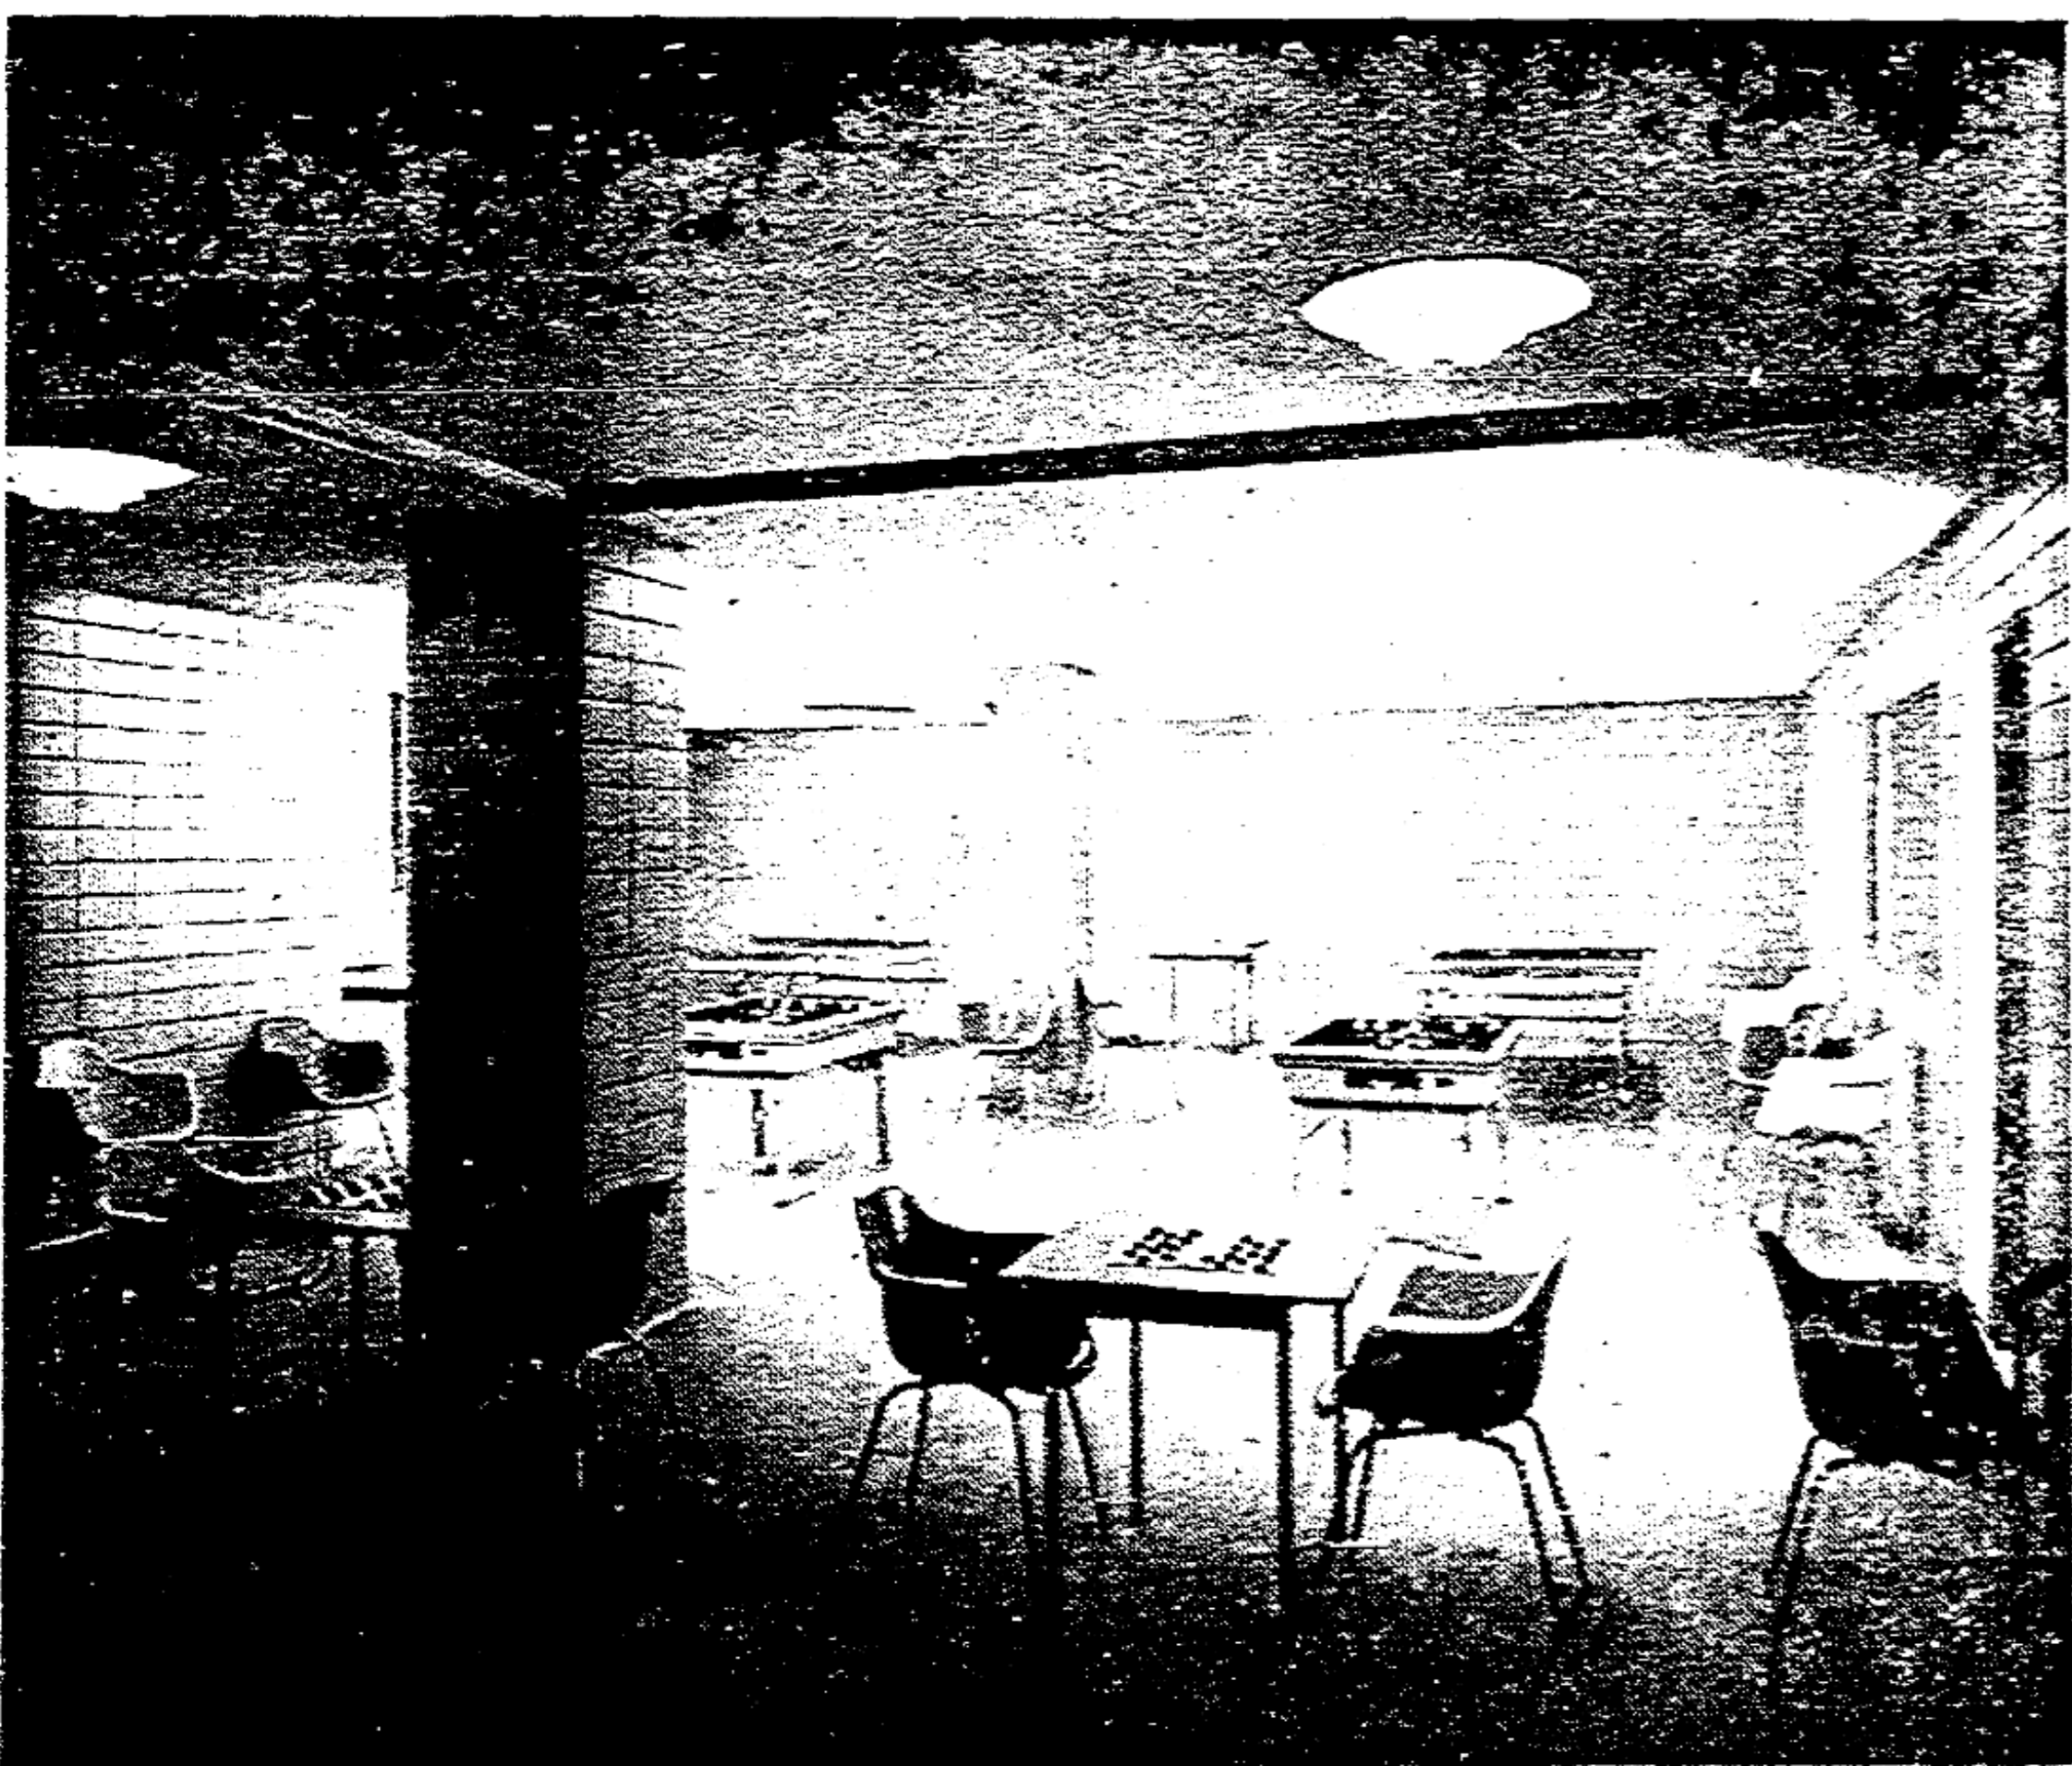

It has been estimated that population will increase 30 percent and school enrollment will increase 60 percent by 1975, with consequent increase in needs for the YMCA and its facilities.

Pool to Open Soon

With some tile work yet to be completed, the pool of the new building will be open before the end of the year. Other areas now in use include the youth lounge, game room, craft room, youth department offices, youth shower and locker room, staff offices and workroom, a portion of the adult area showers and locker rooms, physical conditioning rooms, several club rooms, the all purpose room, two handball courts, and the large gymnasium.

Adult Services Not Curtailed

While the needs of boys and teen-age youth have been emphasized in the areas now open in the new building, there will be no curtailment of services for adult members. In fact, all the programs and services for adults offered in the old building, with the exception of residence accommodations, are now, or soon will be, available.

LEADERS OF COMMUNITY LAUD YMCA

The men and women who have backed the development of the Young Men's Christian Association have accepted the belief that a community's most valuable asset is its youth.

Among the comments and commendations on the opening of the new building was one from Mrs. Pascal E. Hatch, civic leader. She said, "After his church, the YMCA was nearest to the heart of my husband. He worked hard on the original building fund drive in 1907 and had an intense interest in the 'Y' throughout his lifetime.

"The new 'Y' was one of his dreams. I am proud to have had a part in bringing it to fulfillment."

C. H. Lanphier, president of Sangamo Electric Co., said:

"The Sangamo Electric Company halls the dedication of the new 'Y' Building as a potential milestone of great significance in the future of Springfield. The people of Springfield should be grateful to these citizens of Springfield and share holders of various corporations who have made this newest community asset possible.

"The opportunity for the new 'Y' Building to be used as a focal point for the youth programs of Springfield is evident. The Sangamo Electric Company is hopeful and confident that forward-planning and thinking about the problems of youth today can develop in a manner such that our new 'Y' Building will be the fundamental part of an advanced youth program."

A. C. Boock, general manager, Springfield works, Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co., said, "We at Allis Chalmers congratulate the YMCA on the dedication of their new building. This is another step forward in the planning for our youth and the future of our community."

Younger Boys YMCA Program

The program of the Springfield YMCA is designed so any and all Springfield area boys may become involved in the program as early as age 5; and continue on through his entire life. As boys, the members participate in a full program which inspires physical, mental, and spiritual growth. As boys become men, they not only are participants in the "Y" program, but they are its leaders.

The youth program in the YMCA is planned on a "progressive basis." Each year as a boy grows older, he has more to look forward to as he moves into another phase of program.

The first phase of YMCA program for boys is the Y Indian Guide Program, for boys age 5; through 9 and their fathers.

When a boy enters the third grade, he is eligible to become a full member of the YMCA. The boy has a physical program of swimming instruction, which starts with beginning swimming and goes through life saving, and a once a week gym class and splash swim. He also is able to play the lobby games of ping-pong, bumper pool, chess and checkers. In addition to this, he may attend a supervised craft class. Each year thereafter the program grows.

Christian Association, will create adequate values for tomorrow's living."

Thomas L. Cochran, President of the YMCA Board, stated, "The dedication of the YMCA Building culminates years of work and planning on the part of not only the board of directors but also the many hundreds of devoted YMCA workers. The building is a step forward in the progress of our community. The YMCA is dedicated to helping the youth of today become finer citizens tomorrow."

Phil Morgan, General Secretary of the Springfield YMCA, said:

"The dream of many years, now, is a reality. Much remains to be done, but a new building is in service and a new era of opportunities confronts the YMCA. The vision, faith, labor and generosity of a host of citizens has made this new day possible.

"When a city builds for the future, it gives best expression to the confidence it has that tomorrow is coming and that leadership for tomorrow must be in training—leadership with character, ability and unselfish dedication to the common good."

"The Young Men's Christian Association is here to help provide this kind of leadership."

While boys will use the kiln above for ceramic crafts, who knows, later they may become ceramic engineers for the Arketex Ceramic Corp., Brazil, Indiana, whose material was selected for the walls of many of the Y's special purpose rooms.

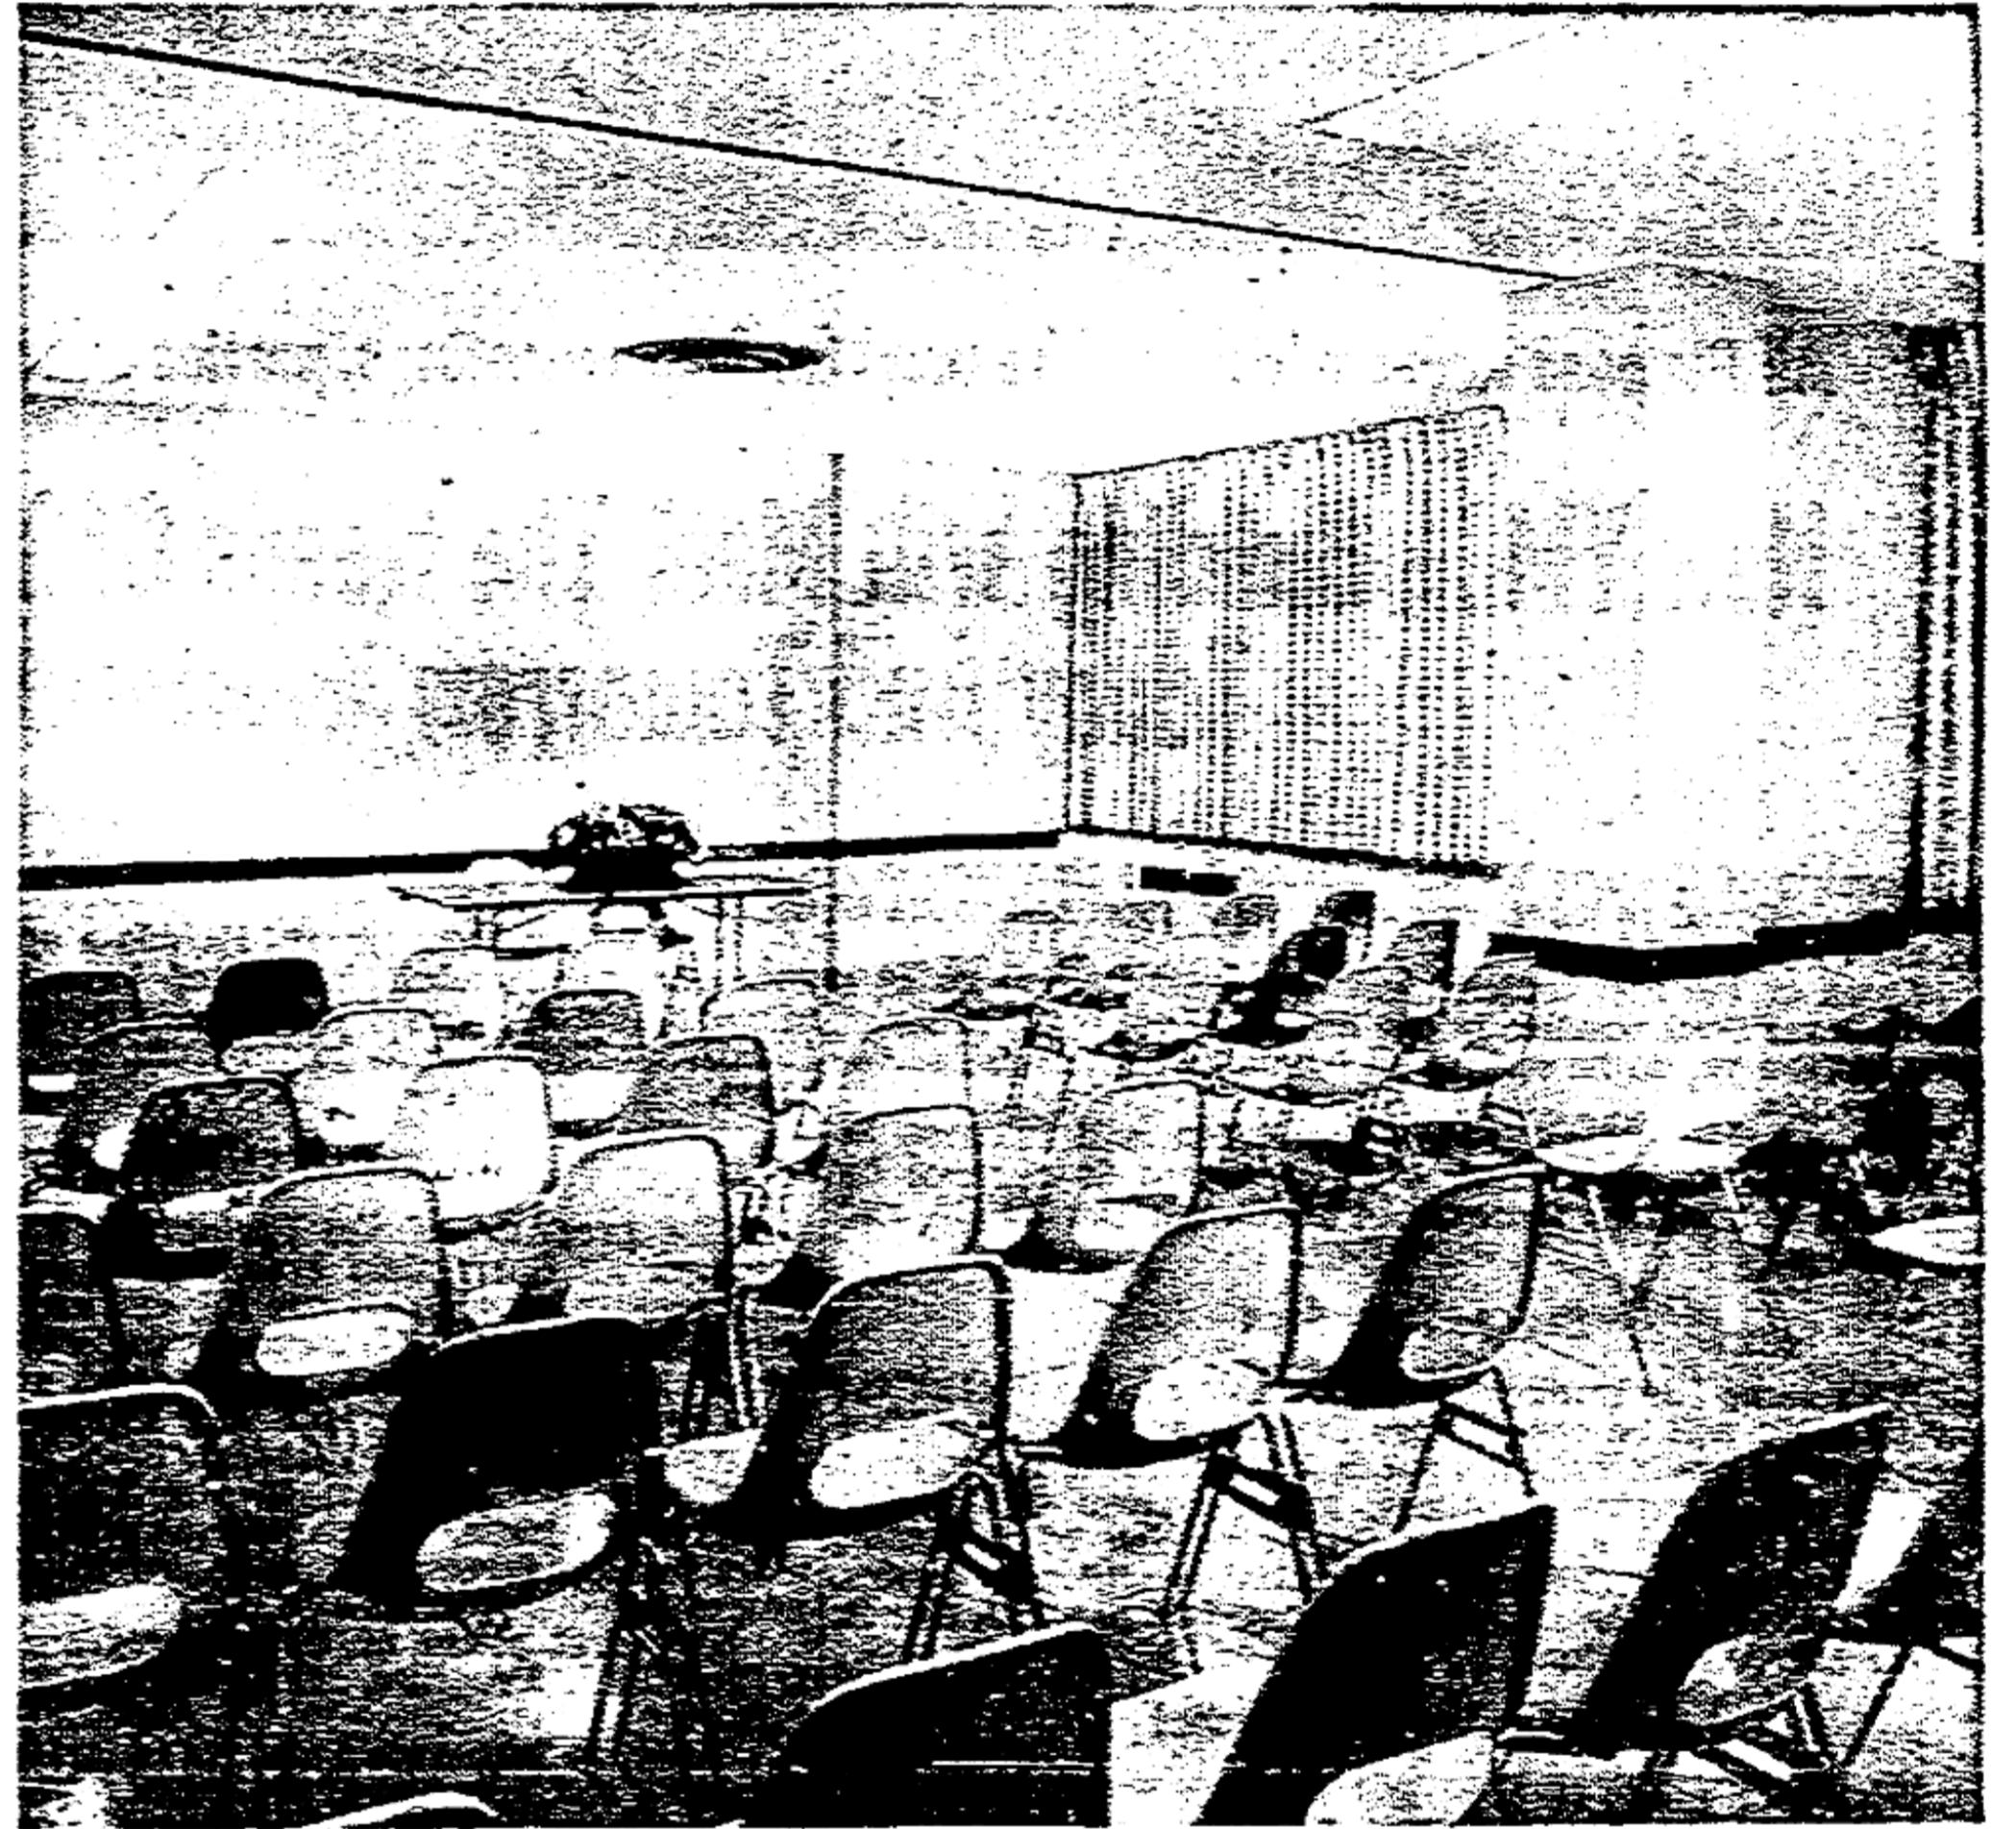

Architect for the new YMCA building is M. D. Turley whose works in Springfield are known for their dignity and functional features of structure and design.
